Davis-Culpepper Wedding Yesterday.

The marriage of Miss Viola Davis and Mr. Max D. Culpepper occurred yesterday afternoon at four o'clock at the parsonage of the Gadsden street Methodist church, Rev. F. A. Rogers officiating.

The marriage was a very pretty and quiet affair, and was witnessed by the family of the minister and the attendants of the young couple.

The bride is a charming young lady, well known in Pensacola, which is her home. She wore a pretty wedding gown of white silk elaborately trimmed with lace and small tucks. Her flowers were bride's roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Hayne, wore white organdie and carried white carnations, the party forming a very pretty group.

Mr. Culpepper has been in Pensacola for a short time, and is originally from Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Culpepper will reside for the present in Pensacola, later going to Birmingham.

She is a woman of many sweet traits of character, and is beloved by every one.

The marriage occurred at eight o'clock, in the presence of friends and relatives at the home of the bride's parents, 401 Hayne street.

The home was charmingly decorated in ferns, cut flowers and vines, and made a pretty setting for the beautiful bride who is only sixteen years of age. The color scheme throughout the home was pale green and white.

The bride's costume was white silk over white tulle, daintily trimmed in real lace and white ribbon. The groom was in full evening dress, and by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by H. J. Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Last Night's Play.

"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." Robert Stevenson's famed Psychological study, was the attraction at the Opera House last night. Mr. Elmer Burham proved his worth as one of the foremost exponents of the difficult duet role.

There are many who are good in one of the characters, but Mr. Burham is one of the very few who is good in both.

The support was of the usual uniform excellence characteristic of the company, the stage settings and light effects all that could be desired, and a change of specialties between the acts pleasantly filled in the time.

The performance is practically a continuous one, the curtain seldom being dropped.

"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" will be seen for the last time to-night and will probably attract the best audience of the engagement up to the present. Arrangements have been made to secure early and accurate returns of the election and they will be read from the stage before the performance and between the acts.

THE CONTEST WAS A BIG SUCCESS

Standard Clothing Company Awards Prizes to Winners in Recent Contest.

The Standard Clothing Company last month conducted a contest, and offered some very desirable prizes to the good guessers of Pensacola. The plan was to guess the number of words in that firm's advertisements in The Journal for the entire month of April.

A great many guesses were sent in and some of them were wonderfully close to the exact number.

The contest closed on April 20, and the nearest guess was within only one of the correct number.

The exact number of words used was 1723, and Dr. Craig's guess was 1722, thus winning the first prize—a fine suit of clothes. The prizes were awarded as follows:

Trained Nurse

Remarked about Nourishing Food.

"A physician's wife, gave me a package of Grape-Nuts one day, with the remark that she was sure, I would find the food very beneficial, both for my own use and for my patients. I was particularly attracted to the food, as at that time the weather was very hot and I appreciated the fact that Grape-Nuts requires no cooking.

"The food was deliciously crisp, and most inviting to the appetite. After making use of it twice a day for three or four weeks, I discovered that it was a most wonderful invigorator. I used to suffer greatly from exhaustion, headaches and depression of spirits. My work had been very trying at times and indigestion had set in.

"Now I am always well and ready for any amount of work, have an abundance of active energy, cheerfulness and mental poise. I have proved to my entire satisfaction that this change has been brought about by Grape-Nuts food.

"The fact that it is predigested is a very desirable feature. I have had many remarkable results in feeding Grape-Nuts to my patients, and I cannot speak too highly of the food. My friends constantly comment on the change in my appearance. I have gained 9 pounds since beginning the use of this food." "There's a Reason." Road, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Which National President Commended.

James M. Johnson, candidate for building inspector, has not only been an employer of organized labor, but he has been tireless in looking after the interests of organized labor. Mr. Jas. M. Johnson, 210 DeLuna Street, Pensacola, Fla.

Dear Sir and Brother:—I have the copy of the resolutions adopted by the various labor organizations of Pensacola through your efforts to assist in securing the desired action in congress on the eight-hour bill and the anti-injunction bill, and wish to thank you for your services. This action of the Pensacola trades will undoubtedly do much toward securing the effect we wish. I have been doing all I can in this matter and the results obtained are indeed gratifying.

Many others will testify to the above facts if called upon to do so in court.

Again thanking you and with best wishes, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

It is Dangerous to Neglect a Cold.

How often do we hear it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold, however slight, should not be disregarded. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia, and has gained its great popularity and extensive sale by its prompt cures of this most common ailment. It always cures and is pleasant to take. For sale by all druggists.
